BUSINESS OVERVIEW

- Anaplan is a cloud-native connected planning platform for enterprise finance, sales, supply chain, and HR, the largest independent pure-play EPM vendor by ARR.
- Founded 2006, taken private by Thoma Bravo in June 2022 at $10.7B EV (~14x ARR). ARR crossed $1B as of early 2025, up from ~$700M at go-private.
- Platform is powered by the proprietary Hyperblock multidimensional calculation engine, deeply embedded in enterprise workflows with high switching costs.
- Three BUs: Finance (>$600M ARR, core; 9x Gartner Magic Quadrant Leader), Sales & Marketing (>$200M ARR), Supply Chain (~$200M ARR, fastest-growing).
- 200+ customers with >$1M ACV, representing more than half of aggregate ARR. Customers include ~half of the Fortune 50.
- Preparing confidential IPO filing as of January 2026 per The Information, likely 2026 public market re-entry if market conditions cooperate.

PRODUCT & REVENUE MODEL

- Annual SaaS subscription (ARR-based). Land-and-expand motion: Finance BU is the primary land (CFO buyer), followed by cross-sell into Sales/Supply Chain.
- Recently added Anaplan Data Orchestrator (enterprise data integration) and acquired Fluence Technologies (financial close/consolidation) in April 2024 to extend the EPM suite.
- $500M multi-year R&D roadmap underway including role-based AI agents launched December 2025.

KEY RISKS & DEBATES

- ! Growth deceleration under Thoma Bravo: ARR CAGR of ~13–15% since go-private vs. 24%+ public-era growth, re-IPO story depends on showing re-acceleration
- ! Competitive displacement by Pigment (fast-growing AI-native challenger) eating into Anaplan's mid-market and emerging enterprise accounts
- ! OneStream (now Hg-backed) dominant in financial close/consolidation after Fluence acquisition, direct overlap with Anaplan's expanded suite
- ! PE ownership debt load: Thoma Bravo typically leverages buyouts; high-interest debt servicing could constrain R&D investment relative to better-capitalized public peers
- ! NRR unknown: public-era NRR was ~120%+ but post-go-private efficiency initiatives (headcount reductions, S&M cuts) may have pressured net retention in the near-term
- ! Workday Adaptive Planning bundled into HCM suite creates price-compression risk in competitive deals where Workday is already the HCM vendor

NOTABLE INVESTORS

Thoma Bravo

IPO READINESS

- High, confidential S-1 filing underway as of January 2026 per The Information.
- Thoma Bravo ~3.5yr hold.

SLIDE-READY BULLETS

- 1Anaplan crossed $1B ARR as of early 2025 under Thoma Bravo ownership, up from ~$700M at go-private in June 2022, implying ~13-15% CAGR with Rule of 55 profitability
- 2Connected planning platform addresses the full enterprise planning stack: Finance (>$600M ARR), Sales & Marketing (>$200M ARR), and Supply Chain (~$200M ARR, fastest-growing BU)
- 3Preparing confidential IPO filing as of January 2026, Thoma Bravo signaling a public exit at ~3.5yr hold; OneStream's $6.4B Hg buyout at ~13x revenue is the key comp for valuation framing
- 4AI agentic roadmap launched December 2025 (role-based Finance Analyst and Custom Agents) plus $500M R&D commitment positions Anaplan on the AI-native EPM narrative ahead of the re-listing
- 5200+ customers with >$1M ACV; ~half of Fortune 50 on platform; Fluence Technologies acquisition (April 2024) extends suite into financial close, expanding the CFO wallet share opportunity

SMART DILIGENCE QUESTIONS

- Q1What is the current NRR and how has it trended since the go-private? The PE efficiency playbook (S&M cuts, headcount reductions) often pressures net retention in the near-term, this is the single most important metric for the re-IPO story.
- Q2How is Anaplan structurally defending against Pigment at the enterprise level? Pigment is doubling ARR annually and winning 57% of its new revenue from enterprise, what is Anaplan's win rate in competitive bake-offs post-2023?

Q3

What is the debt load from the Thoma Bravo leveraged buyout and how does it compare to estimated FCF generation? Rule of 55 is a broad metric, understanding the FCF yield and debt service requirements is critical for valuation and IPO capital structure.
